Knock down system to utilize volume

With the shaky logistics and transportation prices it has become increasingly important to load a container as efficiently as possible.

We offer a large scale of knock down (KD) products that can be stacked to maximize the volume in a container. On location they can be assembled by easily screwing the separate parts together. We will provide an assembling manual where needed.

Stacking systems to utilize volume

In order to utilize the full space in a container we have developed a large range of items that can be stacked. Different sizes of a similar product will slide into each other maximizing the volume of the container and therefore saving costs.

The Brick table is an example where different sizes can be stacked, saving space.

The Chalk table is an example of a knock down product where the top is separated from the base of the table, saving valuable space in the container. The velcro on the base and the table top make it easy to 'stick' the two parts once they have been unpacked.

The Cone tables are good examples of both knock down and stackable products. The top can come off so that the bodies of the tables can be stacked, saving a lot of room and costs.
